CELERY

Florida Celery Growers in the late winter were marketing in an orderly fashion 520 cars or 185,000 crates each week. This quota was set by an association of growers and shippers under authority of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration at Washington, D. C. While shipping was allowed to take its normal course, about 600 cars of celery a week were going forward to points north, east, and west. Canada was getting its share or rather the quantity needed to supply the demand at a fair price. Florida supplies most of the winter grown celery used in the United States and Canada, in a normal season the shipments amount to about 8500 carloads while California supplies little more than half this quantity. Florida winter shipments commence in late December and continue into the following June. Up to mid winter the two competing States ship about equal quantities, but from then on Florida shipments forge ahead while the more western grown crop decreases from week to week.

C.G.I.T. GROUP GIVE BANQUET

Attractively arranged tables and artistic decorations of streamers etc. in blue and yellow carrying out the colors of the C. G. I. T. produced a very inviting setting for the Mother and Daughter Banquet held Thursday night last in the basement of the United Church. Places were laid for about seventy.

The leaders, Miss Florence Garrett of the Senior and Misses B. Whiteside and Alice Garrett of the Junior C. G. I. T. had arranged a most interesting programme,

Iola Cleeve ably presided. Following the bounteous banquet the toast to our mothers was proposed in choice wording by Mary Risdon and responded to in like manner by Mrs. Bower. Jean Garrett gave a brief history of the C. G. I. T. and called on Mrs Whiteside and Mrs. Bower as former leaders to supplement this. Both leaders spoke in glowing terms of their pleasure in working with the girls. Mrs. Polley, active worker in the C G I T for some 19 years was introduced by Miss Alice Garrett as a very remarkable woman. Mrs. Polley described camp life in detail. The interest with which she spoke of the various charms and benefits of Camp Life was evidenced by a number of girls being very eager to go this summer Rev. Brundage gave a very interesting talk on the Pearl of Great Price and told the story of the life of Florence Nightingale, as evidence of a life well spent.

Bernice Whiteside introduced Miss Jean Evely, L. A. B. who read the Story of the Second Peter which held an excellent moral.

A vote of thanks to Mrs Polley and Miss Evely for contributing so much to the enjoyment of the evening was proposed by Florence Garrett and Mr. Brundage proposed a very warm vote of thanks to the C G I T leaders and their helpers for the delightful evening. The story of the Candle Lighting was then read by Annie McGregor and Helen French and this always impressive ceremony carried through. Pictures of the very attractive camp site at Milkville were thrown on the screen, the lantern being operated by Andrew Garrett and the descriptive paragraphs read by Florence.

PAPER AND SILK FROM WOOD

An exceedingly interesting and instructive address, illustrated by lantern slides was given last evening by Mr D McMurray, Western Display Agent for C P R to the members of the Sorosis Society and visitors.

The speaker explained the delicate process of transforming the wood into the many varieties of paper and of silk.

The greatest care on the part of all workers in the minutest detail, the exact formulae required for the various solutions in the transition from the original wood to the finished article were all fully dealt with by Mr Mc Murray in a most interesting manner. The pictures thrown on the screen showed the forest o ffir trees, the men felling trees, loading them on waiting trucks to be later floated down rivers to waiting mills and huge manufacturing plants, where the finished product was turned out in the shape of huge rolls of paper marked and addressed to be sent to various parts of the world.

The log jam, running the logs so dexterously, (a dangerous feat) and each company sorting out its own logs were vividly shown, scenes which are not familiar in this part of the Province.

The lantern was operated by Mr Bill Glendinning and the pictures added greatly to the interest and understanding of the marvellous process.

Mr McMurray also had an exhibit of wood fibre, wood chips the soap, and the resultant paper. Samples of loose silk yarns ready for spinning, silk threads on spools and bobbins in various colors were also on display. The speaker told of the astonishing strength of the rayon silk skeins.

It is 270 years since Dr Hook of England first suggested that silk would be eventually made from wood fibre. This fibre is now a rival which is causing the Japanese silk worm to take second place.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr McMurray for his most informative lecture and to Mr Bill Glendinning for operating the lantern.

Mr McMurray in introducing his topic explained that he was indebted to the C P R Magazine of Canadian Immigration and Colonization for the information and statistics given. These were published pretty fully in last week's issue of The Standard and furnish some very valuable information.

SONG OF THANKSGIVING

Written for King's Jubilee
By John Masefield, poet laureate

Scattered through the mansions of the sun
In distant continents, in every sea,
The many nations are that make us one
King, law and language, give us unity;
Our many peoples seldom speak together.
And yet, in stormy days we link and stand
In common purpose facing the weather,
Swayed by one will and striving as one hand,
Being for freedom and for peace, our way
Is worth men's caring, we may still behold
The world's tomorrow spring from our today
With happier morning brighter than the old;
In hope of such a morrow's dawn we sing
God prosper, bless and save our gracious King.

LEGION JUBILEE DANCE

The Jubilee dance attracted a merry gathering of dancer. Many were no doubt unable to attend owing to the storm. There was a good turn-out in spite of bad roads and everyone seem to have had a good time. Around midnight the Rev. T. B. Winter requested those present to give vent to their loyayty on this celebration, this was done in a rousing manner. The Jubilee ance tunes which followed certainly revived old memories. The Arcadian orchestra is about the liveliest combination of musicians heard here for some time. It took quite a bit of fast stepping to keep up with their peppy tunes.

The Strathmore Legion take this occasion to express their thanks to all who supported their endeavour to swell the Jubilee Cancer Fund and make the evening such a success.

A contribution of $50 is made to the Jubilee Cancer Fund by the Strathmore Branch of the Canadian Legion, the proceeds of the dance held Monday last.

OPEN NEW DETOUR ON WEST HIGHWAY

When Monday's storm turned the present detour into an almost impassable quagmire, officials of the public works department now at work repairing the Medicine Hat trail east of Calgary put into operation another detour north of the highway.

The new detour starts five miles east of Calgary, runs north two miles east five miles, and south two miles, to join the trail again ten miles out of the city. The old detour ran south of the trail.

Officials of the local branch of the Alberta Motor Association reported Tuesday that nearly all southern Alberta roads were in good shape, with the exception of the road from High River east to the Vulcan highway. Snow plows had to be used Monday to clear the trail after the storm.

Seeds will be supplied by the Council to those on relief who wish to put in a garden.

The Councillors will meet Friday evening to further inspect the pipe line running north from the Skating Rink and ascertain means to remedy the situation as it is at present quite unsatisfactory.

CHAIN LETTERS OFFER RICHES

John H Hanna, secretary of the board of trade, turned down a scheme Tuesday which its proposers claimed would net him anything from $1 to $10,625.

In the morning's mail he received a letter from the Prosperity Club, with an invitation to join it. No definite headquarters were given but the letter was from California, it carried the names of five Californians in Los Angeles, Long Beach and Pasadena at the top. The letter reads;

This chain was started in hopes it would bring prosperity to you and your friends.

Within a day or two you may copy five of these letters with pencil, pen or typewriter to whom you think may write to their friends.

Omit the top name and address, adding your name and address at the bottom of the list of names. In omitting the top name send that person one dollar as a charity donation.

In turn, as your name leaves the top you may receive 15,625 letters with donations to you in a like sum or $15,625.

Have faith in your friend and this chain will not be broken. Is it not worth a dollar?

No! was Mr Hanna's emphataic comment as he heaved the letter toward the waste paper basket from which a Herald reporter rescued it.

In more serious vein, however, Mr Hanna stated that this system has been banned from United States mails as fraudulent and warned all persons receiving like letters to pay no attention to them.

BROOMHALL COMMENTS ON CANADIAN WHEAT

—:O:—

Broomhall's Corn Trade News of April 19, comments as follows on the Canadian wheat situation.

The Canadian wheat problem is undoubtedly giving cause for some hard thinking in Canada and in our country. A recent article in a Canadian magazine stressed the importance of the wheat problem for the Dominion, because the western prairies rely on wheat for their income, and eastern provinces cannot prosper unless western farmers are doing well. We are bound to think market movements of the last ten days have strengthened the Canadian government and the manager of the Central Selling Agency (Mr John I McFarland), in their determination to keep up prices. Canada has sold more wheat in the past week, but her prices are too high to enable her to get a good share of the international trade and this applies to the buying of British millers and still more to the continental trade, although official returns of exports indicate that Canada's trade with the Continent is not so stagnant as it often appears from market reports. Canadians are bound to recognize that they are not selling sufficient to reduce their stocks to anything like a normal quantity by 31st July next, as we said in our review of 26th March we are doubtful if the tota shipped during the current season will reach our estimate of 30 million quarters especially as we hear that some British millers recently made a further reduction in the percentage of Canadian in their gristing mixtures, being encouraged to do so by the better gluten content of this season's Plata, we recently published a letter from a Liverpool miller suggesting that Canadian wheat, in view of its high price ought to be quoted per fine ounce!

The Canadian wheat problem can be viewed from several different angles; Canadians may well argue that they will not stop selling on 31st July next, and they can reasonably expect a better trade as the supplies of Australia and Argentine decrease; Canada's large supply of fine wheat may also be found a very valuable reserve, in case any big crop of the 1935 harvest shoud be seriously damaged, or if the European harvest should be greatly delayed by wet weather; the holding of such huge quantity as 240 million bushels is certainly regarded as a gamble by some people, but the action of the government in supporting the market in this way has enabled the western farmer to get a better price for his grain, and we maintain our opinion that the pegged prices are not unreasonably high; but finally we may mention the view that by holding back the wheat, or holding it at a price importing millers will not pay (except for minimum quantities), the Canadian farmer is in danger of permanently losing a large part of this export trade. This is certainly a very debatable point, but our opinion is that buyers will always be found for best quality. The Budget.

CLOVER SEED

—:O:—

Alberta and British Columbia; With the exception of some 80,000 pounds of red clover seed in the Sumas district of British Columbia there is practically no available supply of clover and grass seeds left in growers' hands. The large production of timothy seed in the Pincher Creek area of Alberta and the Bulkley Valley of British Columbia has practically all been marketed during the season. There are still a few small lots of brome and western rye grass in growers' hands in Alberta, but these will not likely reach regular trade channels. It wouid appear that there is an insufficient supply of alfalfa and crested wheat grass for Albertan demand, and alsike is said to be in short supply in British Columbia. Sweet cover is also in rather short supply in Alberta and is being bought from growers at 4c to 6c per pound. Seed merchants report a good demand from farmers for these seeds.

The current price being paid growers for western rye grass, basis No. 1 grade per pound, is 8c and growers are receiving up to 9c for brome grass with little marketable seed left in British Columbia. Alfalfa seed is selling at 19c per pound for No. 1 grade in the Okanagan, and red clover in the Sumas district 18c. There is still a small quantity of timothy left at Telkwa, British Columbia, which is selling at 15c to 16c per pound.

POTATOES SUPPLY ENERGY

—:O:—

The potato is pre-eminent among the vegetables used for food. Not only does the potato furnish considerable nutriment but supplies it in an easily digestible form. The starch in potatoes is more readily digested than the starch of some other starch producing foods. However, as the potato is somewhat deficient in protein and fats it should not be used exclusively in the diet but should be combined with lean meat, legumes, eggs or other protein or fat supplying foods.

A TRIBUTE TO MOTHERS TRUE.

Some one like you makes the heart seem the lighter
Some one like you makes the day's work worth while,
Some one like you makes the sun shine the brighter,
Some one like you makes a sigh, half a smile.

Life's an odd pattern of briers and roses.
Clouds sometimes darken nor sun shining through,
Then the cloud lifts and the sun light discloses
Near to me, dear to me— Someone like you.

Never a trouble but you help me to bear it,
Just by the fellowship yu have with me,
Never a joy but I want you to share it,
How far you fare, or wherever you be.
Never a burden but you make it lighter
Just by your smile that I see creeping through,
Never a glad hour but you make it brighter,
Hart of me, part of me— Some one like you.

DOMINION PRIME MINISTERS SPEAK

—:O:—

The Prime Ministers of the Dominions have informed the British Dominions that the whole Empire is counting on the Mother Country to keep Europe at peace.

It is understood that the full Cabinet session was given detailed reports of conversations on foreign policy and defence at Premier MacDonald's office in the Parliament Building. The conversations were entered into by Premier Bennett of Canada, Premier Hertzog of South Africa and Premier Lyons of Australia.

After Mr MacDonald and Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary had explained to them the latest developments in European peace negotiations, the visiting Prime Ministers it was stated, assured the British leaders that they have the whole hearted backing of the Empire.

The Dominion chiefs, it was learned from their delegations, stressed the following three points:

1 Increases in British armaments are recognized as necessary in order that Great Britain can continue to play an effective role as mediator in European affairs;

2 Great Britain is expected to take risks in Europe if necessary, even without the knowledge of the Dominions, as it is appreciated that Great Britain can achieve more in diplomatic negotiations if her hands are free;

3 It was pointed out that the Dominions have the right to refrain from committing themselves in any obligations that may be incurred by the Mother Country.

Canada and the Union of South Africa have served notice to the Govt that their Dominions will not come automatically to Great Britain's aid in case of war, the Laborite Daily Herald stated.

It continued: The Dominion representatives made it unmistakably clear that they were unable to give any undertakings to support Great Britain in a European conflict without important reservations.

Gen Hertog made it plain that the South African Government is not prepared to participate in any general scheme of imperial defense. His view is that participation of the Union of South Africa in any way in which Britain may be involved is dependent upon that issue of that war.

For his part Mr Bennett also took a very detached attitude, and informed the British Minister of his assurance to the Canadian House of Commons that there was no undertaking to the British Government in connection with defense, and more especially with regard to aviation.

McGill has found a splendid man, he stated last night, when met at the dock. Mr Birks produced copies of letters written by officials and senior professors of several British universities, commending Mr Morgan. Among them were:

Their short-haired skins that fit just right
Geographies in black and white.
Lean tail makes loop above the thigh
In flicking at some bug or fly.
Or head swings shoulder-ward with force
That is enough to kill a horse.
They lay out paths that twist and wind,
Perhaps with future streets in mind.
On these they walk with rythm and stress,
Heads moving up-and-down, yes, yes.
Ears forward ,ready for surprise,
They stare at you with great round eyes,
With tongues as spoons for green grass mainly,
Their words are few and spoken plainly;
The grass the barn, the calf, the blue—
To cow folks everything is "Moo."

ENGLISH FORD BEGINS MAKING V-8 MODELS

—:o:—

But Will Probably Use Canadian Engines for Some Time.

Ford Motors, Ltd. (England) has commenced the manufacture of chassis for V-8 cars to be sold in its markets. This apparently means that the agreement made in 1932 whereby Ford of Canada supplied the English company with V-8 models will be superseded. No announcement, however, has been made to that effect or as to whether or not the Canadian company will still merchandise in its markets the 8 and 10 horsepower midget Ford cars manufactured at Dagenham, England.

The V-8 demand has been keen, especially since the reduction of five shillings in the horsepower tax. That means that the license on a Ford V-8 car has been reduced from 30 to 22 pounds and 10 shillings. But that is also a great encouragement to the English company to take over the making of V-8 cars for the British market. Ford of Canada is still shipping a few cars but the English company is making chassis now.

Apparently the U K plant is not yet making its own V-8 engines. Whether this development will come eventually is not known. For the time being, therefore, the English company is dependent on either the United States or the Canadian company for V-8 engines. The British preference favors engines made in Canada.

The making in England of these V-8 cars, and possibly also the engines eventually, is not an unexpected development. The Financial Post has several times suggested that successful sale in England of these cars would mean eventual manufacture there. Just how and when the whole transfer of operations will be made has not been decided. It will be watched closely by investors who desire to know the effects on operations and profits of Canadian company.

ADMIRAL BYRD RETURNS

—:o:—

Washington— Rear Admiral Richard E Byrd is nearing Washington, where he and his men are to be greeted by the President Friday. He is aboard the supply ship Jacob Ruppert, which with the Bear of Oakland is now steaming up from the Panama Canal, with all the new treasures of scientific data collected in Antarctica by the expedition.

President Roosevelt is expected to go to the Washington Navy Yard to Welcome the Byrd men. Then he intends to receive the Admiral and others he may invite, on the presidential yacht Sequoia. A sailor him self, he has taken a keen personal interest in the expedition and its work and is looking forward to hearing details of what has been accomplished.
